- 1 Areas where selective and careful removal of non-native tree species would create an environment allowing a wider variety of woodland plants
- 2 Areas where crown raising of trees (removal of lower branches) would improve visibility and access
- 3 Areas where Hazel and Elder could be managed by coppicing to provide a richer variety of habitat
- 4 Areas where dense shrubs could be thinned out and replaced with a greater variety of shrubs attractive to wildlife
- 5 Areas where self-sown scrub could be reduced to allow the planting of a greater variety of woodland plants
